

A large empty rectangular frame occupies the majority of the left page. At the bottom center of this frame is a smaller rectangular box containing two horizontal lines, serving as a label or title area.

A large empty rectangular frame occupies the majority of the right page. At the bottom center of this frame is a smaller rectangular box containing two horizontal lines, serving as a label or title area.